Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 09 May 2003.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ahroni (US 6,079,848) in view of Yamamoto et al. (US 5,675,890).

Regarding claim 1, Ahroni discloses the invention substantially as claimed including:

an auxiliary device 24;

a base board 20 provided with said auxiliary device and a plurality of terminals 28 each with a pair of leading pressure contact blades with a predetermined shape; and a case 23 in which said base board is mounted;

wherein said terminals on the base board and a connecting portion in said case are electrically connected as a connector by mounting said base board on the case; and wherein positioning portions having a plurality of pressure contact receiving grooves (Fig. 7) each with a complementary shape as the predetermined shape of each of the pair of leading pressure contact blades so as to accommodate each of the pair of leading pressure contact blades.

Ahroni does not disclose each of the pressure contact receiving grooves being pre-formed. Yamamoto et al. teach pre-formed receiving grooves (between 99,101 and 103) to accommodate the contact blades of the apparatus. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to pre-form the grooves of Ahroni as Yamamoto et al. teach to prevent deformation of the contact blades during mating.

Regarding claim 2, Ahroni discloses said terminals are pressure contact type terminals, wherein said connecting portion includes electric wires 19, wherein a pressure contact type connector provided with said pressure contact type terminals is mounted on said base board, wherein said case is provided with a connector housing having said electric wires therein, wherein said connector is formed by press-fitting said base board into said case to connect said pressure contact type terminals with said electric wires by pressure, wherein said positioning portions include electric wire setting portions and pressure contact blade receiving grooves, wherein pressure contact connecting of the terminal and the electric wires is done by leading pressure contact blades of said pressure contact type terminals into said pressure contact blade receiving grooves.

Regarding claim 3, Ahroni discloses a pair of said pressure contact blades formed in said pressure contact type terminal are guided by corner edges of said pressure contact blade receiving grooves.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ahroni in view of Yamamoto et al., as applied to claims 1-3 above, further in view of Applicant's Admitted Prior Art ("A.A.P.A.").

Ahroni discloses the invention substantially as claimed, but does not disclose the auxiliary device being a camera module. A.A.P.A. teaches a camera module as an auxiliary device. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the use of the device module and use it with a camera module to improve the connection between a camera module and mating component.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Hollingsworth et al. teach positioning portions with a complementary shape to terminals.
